

INTO THE WILD

Nature and wildlife take centre stage at every national park around the world. And no number of pictures and videos can give you the thrill and adrenaline rush of these up-close encounters: A pride of lions chasing down a frightened fawn. Raptors swooping down to attack their prey with razor-sharp claws. A baby gorilla swinging around the jungle. Baby pandas chasing one another up trees. A tiger majestically walking across your path. Whether you're a birdwatcher, a big cat enthusiast, or are simply mesmerised by the animal kingdom, you will be immediately drawn to these wildlife experiences.

Our team of travel experts have put together a list of the top national parks that should be in your bucket list, and will be happy to customise a 'wild' national park holiday for you.

KAZIRANGA NATIONAL PARK ASSAM

Located in the heart of Assam, Kaziranga National Park's proximity to the Brahmaputra river has bestowed the land with a variety of natural wonders. This UNESCO World Heritage Site is famous for the Great One Horned Rhinoceros, a large population of tigers, swamp deer, leopards, bears, elephants, gibbons, macaques and gaur, to name a few. On the safari, you could also catch sight of spotted owlets, ruddy shelducks, greenshanks, brown fish owls, greater cormorant and many more that make up Kaziranga's thriving bird population. ### CHOBE NATIONAL PARK BOTSWANA

While the park is renowned for its 120,000 African elephants, there are an equal number of buffalos together with a healthy population of lions, spotted hyenas, zebras, impalas, baboons, blue wildebeests, kudus, giraffes, warthogs and vervet monkeys. As you drive down the dazzling, deep blue Chobe river, don't be surprised to be stopped by herds of wildlife wandering across the road. The riverfront is also a hotspot for hippos, crocodiles and leguavaan (the second-longest lizard of Africa). And if that's not enough, there are over 450 species of birds who will attract your attention. Read more »

GORILLA WALKS RWANDA AND UGANDA

Tracking a family of endangered mountain gorillas in the dense rainforests of Rwanda or Uganda is a sweaty, time consuming and tiring affair. But, the sight of a great male silverback drumming his chest with his fists or settling down to eat, is a rare and unforgettable experience. One that will make you realise that man and beast have a lot more in common than you thought.

With the help of an expert guide, the gorilla walk turns out to be one of the most intimate and extraordinary experiences you'll ever have in nature. Every minute you spend here makes for memories worth a lifetime. Read more »

CHENGDU PANDA PARK CHINA

China's Sichuan Province is home to the cuddly, clumsy and unbelievably adorable Pandas. And without exaggeration, one can say that it is the best place in the whole world to see these cute animals up close.

An early morning visit to the base would ensure you get to see the pandas in their element. Playing, munching bamboo shoots, tumbling, and climbing trees, they are a sight that would melt even the stonehearted. At the breeding centre, one can often come across baby pandas being nursed by their mothers, a sight that will make you all fuzzy on the inside. Read more »
